"Cry aloud, spare not, lift up thy voice like a trumpet." Isaiah 58:1

A Crisis or an Agenda?

Editorial

By the living grace of God, we have all made it through the years 2020 and 2021, but not without difficulty and distress. Our western culture has never seen the likes. Indeed, the world has never seen the likes, for the attack is global and the enemy seemingly untouchable. In a relatively short space of time, life as we knew it has drastically changed. Corrupt governments have robbed us of our rights, our freedoms, our bodily autonomy—and, for many, their health and livelihoods. Dissenting voices are censored.

A U.S. General with sixty years of service was asked how we can win back our freedoms worldwide. His answer? “We need a spiritual awakening!” True words! The nations must humble themselves and repent, for there is no other hope for man. And real Christians are needed to do this great work.

We have been lied to for many long years by the kings of the earth and sucked into the systems of this world to our harm and their enrichment. It is time for the tables to be overturned and evil exposed in this last move of God. In the words of the prophet Isaiah, “Judgment also will I lay to the line, and righteousness to the plummet: and the hail [hard, solid Word of God] shall sweep away the refuge of lies, and the waters [Word of God] shall overflow the hiding place.” Isaiah 28:17.

We could but advance forward with trepidation into 2022—BUT FOR GOD! Have faith in our omnipotent, omniscient, and sovereign God! Arise, for the glory of His name, children of God! It’s time for the lions to roar, as the voice of mighty thunders! Let Satan feel the blast of your fury and the power of your God! Our God omnipotent reigneth! Alleluia!

TESTIMONIES & LETTERS

Keep Me on the List

Dear Susan Mutch,

Thank you for the current issue of the Gospel Trumpet. Please keep me on the list to receive this magazine.

The September-October editorial was powerful. Thank you for coming out so strong, truthful, and brave. We need more of that.

I was shocked that Pastor Tissen was arrested.

Please talk more about the evil vaccines and the unconstitutional mandates, including lockdowns and masks. Enclosed is a check.

Clothes for Godly Women

Hey, brothers in the faith! I wanted to ask a question you probably do not get much, but could you please let me know where your church gets their clothes for the ladies? It is seeming more and more difficult to find suitable/modest clothes for the godly women. I would really appreciate any help that you could provide, please and thank you!

Thank you for staying strong in the faith, and continue to focus on God Almighty to avoid the distractions of this increasingly wicked world.

Love you all, and bless you all in the mighty name of Jesus Christ! In Christ,

I Respect Your Attire

I am a Canadian chaplain with Emergency Management serving in the Philippines. I respect your attire and believe it is very appropriate. I would like to find how I may order some to be sent to me here.

Pray More Pastors Will Wake Up

I want to say thank you for what you are doing for the Lord. I was appalled that Canada forced you out of your church. I know this is coming to America as well. I thank you for not bowing down to the government of Canada, and thank you for taking a stand like you have.

I am a born again Christian who lives in Louisville, Kentucky, USA. I pray God blesses you mightily and many souls are saved by this.

Keep up the great job you are doing. I pray more pastors will wake up here in the USA and Christians as well and take a stand like this. God bless you.

Infringement of Our Rights

Thank you for standing up for our religious rights and freedoms. Christians continue to quote Romans, but what about in Hebrews where we are called to gather MORE in the end times (and if a believer cannot see that we are in the quickening of the birth pangs, they have chosen not to see it)? It has been Satan's game to separate us from the beginning, because where two or more are gathered, Jesus is also there. Keep us apart and we lose focus. We lose heart.

I keep hearing churches say that they are still telling us we can have church, and not really encroaching on our religious rights and freedoms, to which I say; the moment they told us we could not gather together in God's house as believers, they infringed on our rights. Countless times the Bible tells us to fellowship, to gather, to lay hands on one another, to pray for healing and restoration. To pray for protection and seek wisdom from other believers...But we sit back and allow for zero restrictions on Wal-Mart shoppers, while the grip on the church becomes tighter and tighter.

We tell the underground church in China how important it is that they still gather together in the name of Christ. But when it happens here, we can't even see it. That's how watered-down our faith is—the frog in the pot of slow-boiling water.

So thank you. Thank you for standing up. Thank you for being a light, and an inspiration...something Christians desperately need right now. I pray for God's protection over you, the biggest blessings for being obedient in a very dark time.

War in Heaven

Their strategies exhausted and a limit on the time,
The hordes of darkness gather to commit heinous crimes.
Their cry is war in heav'n against the Lord of lords,
Their magic, spells, and witchcraft are destructive, stealthy swords.

They've mass-controlled the people into social disarray.
The man is weak, the wife is boss, the child is apt to stray.
There are drugs sold in the alleys and rebellion on the rise,
While faith in political religion is being advertised.

But hearken now, and don't look bleak; our future is still bright!
We have a word of prophecy more sure than earthly sight!
Long, long ago on Patmos, an apostle saw a Book—
Epiphany of wonders!—and could not refrain to look.

It holds the myst'ries of our time, the trumpets, vials, and seals
And to the giver of this Word must all the nations yield.
All those who, full of wicked pride, are rebels 'gainst God's throne,
Refuse the Moses of their time, will reap what they have sown.

We hear the seventh trumpet now—the sound is clear and keen.
See some awake and wonder what this thund'rous noise could mean.
(For they had slept in silence for threescore and ten long years—
Years filled with dreaming, yearning, doubt, and many bitter tears.)

But in the midst of this distress, and war against the right,
There is a city—God's own church—with glorious evening light!
She stands superior on Mount Zion, the joy of the whole earth,
A symbol of God's power and the home of all true mirth.

We see the city shining bright, her walls up to the skies.
She rises, rises o'er all doubts, and thrives in dang'rous times.
As threat'ning legions circle round—old Satan at the core—
A peal of fire descends from heav'n, consumes them evermore!

An Exhortation to Ministers Concerning Doctrine

BRO. THOMAS TOVSTIGA

“And I will give you pastors according to mine heart, which shall feed you with knowledge and understanding.” Jeremiah 3:15

“And they continued stedfastly in the apostles’ doctrine and fellowship, and in breaking of bread, and in prayers.” Acts 2:42

“Take heed unto thyself, and unto the doctrine; continue in them: for in doing this thou shalt both save thyself, and them that hear thee.” 1 Timothy 4:16

“Whom shall he teach knowledge? and whom shall he make to understand doctrine? them that are weaned from the milk, and drawn from the breasts.” Isaiah 28:9

We stand in awe at the great, present restoration work God is doing, not only by calling mankind to leave false religion, but also by preparing a place of security and nourishment for starving multitudes to come to. The truth from our precious hymn rings clear, “True pastors shall feed them on heavenly food, their sorrows and sighings are o’er.” This celestial manna is none other than the pure, sound doctrine as revealed by God’s holy apostles and prophets.

Doctrine is the sheep’s food. It is in every case relevant, practical, and indispensable, whether it be for visitors and babes in Christ, or seasoned and established saints. Doctrine is the sole enduring motivator. Without fail, it will cause those who understand and grasp ahold of it to be moved with a soul burden, practice fervent personal piety, and be stirred to fulfill their calling. While knowledge and understanding must at times be imparted by the means of exhortation, yet incessant exhortation alone will impede the spiritual growth of saints. Only doctrine will give lasting spiritual vision, and lead God’s children through the storms of life. Exhortation is the Christian’s admonishment to live radically; doctrine is the reason that he must.

After large meetings, we must take back to our localities the living bread of doctrine which the apostles have given, and breaking it, feed it to our flocks, line upon line, precept upon precept. Unless this is done, the prophetic truth preached in the great assemblies profits the body of Christ little. Continually doing this will ensure that vital pace is kept with the present light and understanding and will lay in the saints a foundation of understanding and knowledge upon which God’s workmen can build.

Our children’s Sunday school classes ought to be filled with practical, engaging, and enjoyable doctrinal content. It would be a shameful and almost irreparable disaster for our children to enter the youth without being well versed in all major doctrines. Thus, our local congregations and schools must be the doctrinal training grounds that prepare our children and youth to go out and rescue those who perish for lack of knowledge.

Let it be our duty to make available tracts, booklets, articles, books, and other doctrinal resources to new converts and saints alike, and leading by example, seek passionately to inspire the saints to study and profitable reading. Thus doing, we shall fulfill the apostle’s charge to “feed the flock of God which is among you” (1 Peter 5:2).

Let us faithfully feed those who hunger and thirst after righteousness with sound doctrine, for Eternity soon dawns, “when the chief Shepherd shall appear, [and] ye shall receive a crown of glory that fadeth not away” (1 Peter 5:4). 📖 might not fully understand the depths of the oppressions they are rebelling against. Many more are fully ignorant of any possible or effective solution to such wide-spread, long-standing exploitations and abuses. Perhaps the level of ire witnessed at many protests around the world is simply a result of the angry impotence felt by the populace against powers that seem invincible.

But there is One who is not just now beginning to see the oppressions suffered by the multitudes throughout time. There is One who has taken account of them all; who has seen and known the depths and extents of every abuse inflicted by the system of this world. And while the world at large may be just beginning to understand the magnitude of these cruelties, the Lord of lords has been preparing for just such a time as this.

While the wheels of this world's system were smoothly rolling along, unrestrainedly and covertly crushing the masses in their wake, God in heaven was moving on the hearts of some men and women, chosen and equipped for this time. Little by little, with flawless timing and mastery, God restored the understanding, glory, and power that could effectively establish a true place of refuge.

A place where all divisions and prejudices vanish in the wake of the new creature, made anew by the blood of the Lamb. A place where wounds inflicted by the world's abuses can be healed by heavenly balm. A place headed by chosen men and women, endued with divine wisdom, love, and power; equipped to judge the great whore who has waxed rich by the sale of the souls of men (Revelation 18:13).

As the world awakens to the realities of this whore, the church of God stands ready-prepared and unafraid amid a world shaken by chaos. As the multitudes begin to cry out against her oppressions, not knowing where to find a refuge from her cruelties, the prepared Bride of Christ responds with a resounding blast of the trumpet. "Come," she calls, "Let him that is athirst come" (Revelation 22:17). And while she calls, the Lord's voice joins hers, "Come out of her, my people, that ye be not partakers of her sins, and that ye receive not of her plagues" (Revelation 18:4)

As more and more people around the globe rebel against the world's abusive system and begin to seek for the answer, the trumpet blast issuing from God's prepared sanctuary will reach their ears as a guiding sound, leading them out of Babylon's oppressions.

Zion will rejoice as she welcomes home those that choose to flee the world's wicked and merciless system. Songs of rapture and shouts of victory will echo from the church of God as the system of Babylon falls to its final destruction.

Never fear, even though the whole world seems shaken with chaos and unrest. It is only the precursor to God's greatest and final victory! 📖

Vengeance at Last

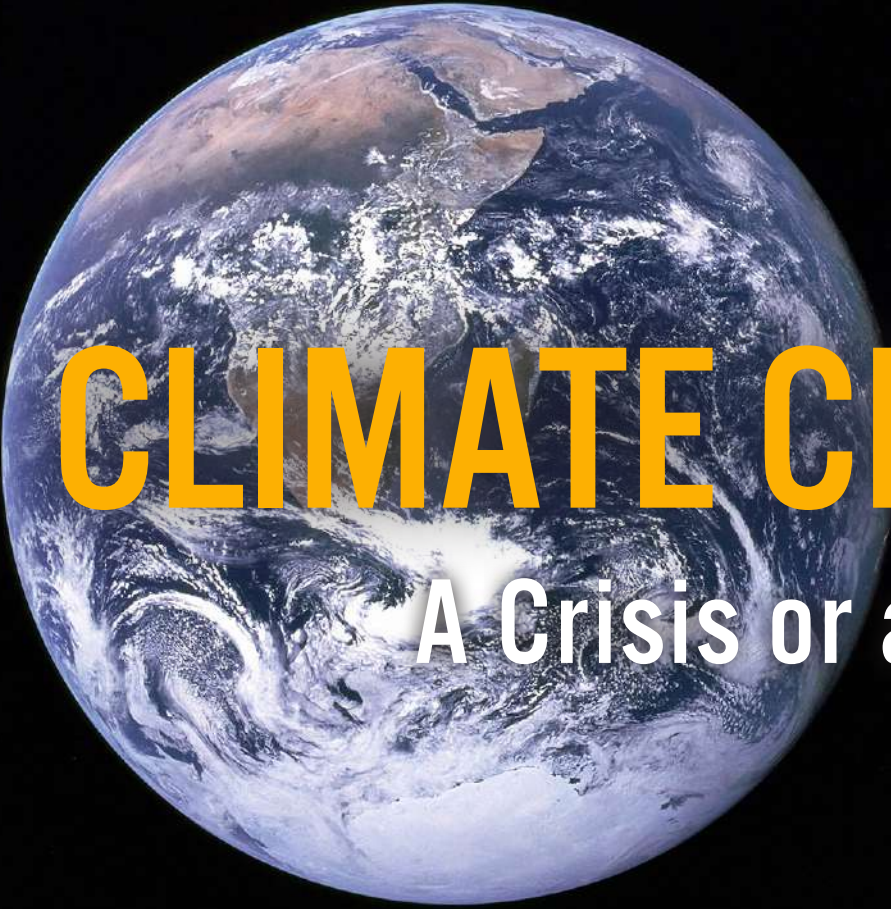

The age that succeeded the primitive church
Engendered deceptions that darkened the earth.
And since this apostasy, Christians of yore
Have prayed for revenge for the evils they bore.

Rejoice, oh ye faithful who once were harassed,
For vengeance and judgment has fallen at last!
Now you who were tortured can peacefully rest
For every oppression in us is addressed.

The cry of the native compelled to his grave
That's mingled in hist'ry with that of the slave.
Has not gone unheard by the Sovereign above
But now are their shameful injustices judged.

The millions who cried out "How long, holy Lord,
Until our oppressors receive their reward?"
Obtain their revenge and their answer in us—
The last of the faithful, the true, and the just.

CLIMATE CHANGE

A Crisis or an Agenda?

SIS. SUSAN MUTCH

“THE SKY IS FALLING, THE SKY IS FALLING!” “Our planet is doomed!” Climate alarmists have been busy beating this doomsday drum for some years now. “Humans are the problem! And don’t forget those cows, those methane-belching cows!”

After the powers-that-be wring out all of the fear and control they can with their covid ruse, do not be surprised if climate alarmists escalate to fever pitch. After all, the elites have more work to do to destroy industry, make you poor, and maintain the fear factor for control over the populace. Mainstream media will be sure to provide the heightened climate propaganda.

The UN’s Alarmists

The United Nations, et al, have been endeavouring for years to shape the public mind into believing that planet Earth is endangered due to human-caused global warming. But let us understand that variation in climate is perfectly normal. Some global warming advocates would have you to believe that it was only after the start of the industrial revolution when man started burning fossil fuels that the world’s climate was affected, but the mere presence of a change in climate is not evidence of man-made global warming.¹ In fact, between 1910 and 1940, there was a warming trend resembling that of today—and it was not caused by fossil fuels in industry, for little existed. Carbon dioxide emissions cannot be blamed here! Dr. Judith Curry, a well-known climatologist, declares that the warming then observed had to be caused by natural factors. “None of the climate models used by [the alarmist] scientists now working for the United Nations can explain this older trend. Nor can these models explain why the climate suddenly cooled between 1950 and 1970, giving rise to widespread warnings about the onset of a new ice age. I recall magazine covers of the late 1960s or early 1970s depicting the planet in the grip of an annihilating deep freeze. According to a group of scientists, we faced an apocalyptic environmental scenario—but the opposite of the current one.”²

False Claims

Alarmists would have you to believe that “global sea levels are rising as a result of human-caused global warming, with recent rates being unprecedented...” Dr.

Curry's response? "Sea level is rising, but this has been gradually happening since the 1860s. We don't yet observe any significant acceleration of this process in our time." "Here again, one must consider the possibility that the causes for rising sea levels are partly or mostly natural."³

NASA claims that the western U.S.A. is experiencing more frequent wildfires, and that they are bigger, more severe, and more destructive, with 15 of the 20 most destructive wildfires in California history occurring within the past decade. But the U.S. National Interagency Fire Center (NIFC) reports data on U.S. wildfires back as far as 1926. Their data showed the number of acres burned is far less now than it was throughout the early 20th century, and that wildfires are far less frequent and severe than was the case throughout the first half of the 20th century (see chart below). Interestingly, in March 2021, data prior to 1983 was removed from the site.⁴

In Dr. S. Fred Singer's book Hot Talk, Cold Science, he shows that the alarming global warming scenarios have no scientific basis. He reveals facts, including the following:

CO₂ has not caused temperatures or sea levels to rise beyond historical rates.

Severe storms, heat waves, and droughts have not increased in frequency or intensity since 1970.

Coral reefs are not being harmed by climate change.

Alarmist climate scientists have hidden their raw temperature data and deleted emails, then undermined the peer-review system to squelch debate.

In sum, Dr. Singer declared there is no climate crisis resulting from human activities and no such threat on the horizon.

A Political Agenda?

Dr. Curry resigned due to the dubious climate science serving a political project. "A person must not like capitalism or industrial development and should favor world government rather than nations." "The doctrine of climate change has so overshadowed the science of climatology" that numbers of respected scientists are walking away from the craziness, believing that "the alarmism on this issue is unwarranted."⁵

Dr. Curry decries a political agenda against industrial development and favouring a world government. What do these have to do with climate change? Is there more to the narrative than what meets the eye? Economist and founder of the World Economic Forum (WEF), Klaus Schwab, seems to allude to such in his book, The Great Reset: "If, in the post-pandemic era, we decide to resume our lives just as before (by driving the same cars, by flying to the same destinations, by eating the same things, by heating our house the same way, and so on), the COVID-19 crisis will have gone to waste as far as climate policies are concerned."⁶ COVID-19 and climate policies. COVID-19 "a waste" unless we use less fossil fuels? Are we seeing a step one, step two program—one that has nothing to with either health or weather?

The director-general of the World Health Organization (WHO), Dr. Tedros, would like for you to believe that climate change is causing new diseases: "As man-made climate change has taken hold over the last four decades, dozens of new infectious diseases have emerged or begun to threaten new regions, including Zika and Ebola." They would now add coronavirus to that list to try to further convince us that "these outbreaks would continue to occur until human beings ceased and desisted from spewing gazillions of carbon particles into the atmosphere."

Were these claims true, why did the many world leaders attending the climate

Future generations will wonder in bemused amazement that the early 21st century's developed world went into hysterical panic over a globally averaged temperature increase of a few tenths of a degree, and, on the basis of gross exaggerations of highly uncertain computer projections combined into implausible chains of inference, proceeded to contemplate a roll-back of the industrial age.

Richard Lindzen,
Atmospheric Physicist

I've often heard it said that there's a consensus of thousands of scientists on the global warming issue and that humans are causing a catastrophic change to the climate system. Well, I am one scientist, and there are many that simply think that is not true.

John Christy,
PhD Atmospheric Science

Scientists who dissent from the alarmism have seen their grant funds disappear, their work derided, and themselves libeled as industry stooges, scientific hacks or worse. Consequently, lies about climate change gain credence even when they fly in the face of the science that supposedly is their basis.

Richard Lindzen,
Atmospheric Physicist

Recent data and research supports the importance of natural climate variability and calls into question the conclusion that humans are the dominant cause of recent climate change.

Judith Curry,
PhD Geophysical Sciences

I am a skeptic...Global warming has become a new religion...Global warming is Pseudoscience. You begin with a hypothesis—usually one which is very appealing to you and then you only look for things that confirm that hypothesis. You don't look for other things.

The climate has always changed.

Professor Ivar Giaever,
Nobel Laureate Physicist

summit in Glasgow, Scotland opt to fly in their private jets, "spewing gazillions of carbon particles"? And why did this same crew go without masks and social distancing at the G7 meeting in Cornwall, England? Do we have hypocrites pushing the covid and climate change stories? Apparently, they don't believe their own dogma.

Censorship

Those who have done their homework know that both the covid and climate change narratives have no science to prove their claims. And with both, any dissenters—despite having the true science in hand—are vilified and censored. Scientists daring to question the United Nations' consensus on human-caused global warming can expect to be ostracized from the scientific community, as are scientists and medical professionals opposing the covid narrative. When governments and their "experts" close the door to any scrutiny, thinking people should take note. Something other than science lurks behind the rhetoric.

From Covid to the Fourth Industrial Revolution?

The purpose of the covid and climate scare-mongering is actually connected—locking down the economy (particularly the middle class) and changing the fundamental way we work, live, and interact with others.⁷ Think not that this is for our well-being, the toll of human suffering from the covid lock downs being proof enough.

"Coronavirus can trigger a new industrial revolution. The disease could be the shock we need to harness new technology and new ways of working."

Ed Conway, The Times. Mr. Conway seems to have a technocratic dream for the future. Perhaps he read Klaus Schwab's book, The Fourth Industrial Revolution.

"The corononavirus stymies the forces that have been generating greenhouse gases for decades...The rational response for any country determined to prevent loss of life is to follow China's lead and lock down their economy to stem its spread."

Lock down the economy to save lives? Watch your step, folks! Slippery propaganda slope ahead.

The Chief Culprit?

It has been said that CO₂ is the chief culprit for climate change and that "carbon emissions need to be reduced in order to avoid an apocalyptic climate crisis. This is perhaps the biggest lie of our era, supported by the pseudoscience of highly political, unelected organizations, such as the IPCC and other NGOs. The notion that CO₂...is inherently problematic is not only false, but it is being weaponized against humanity itself." Far from being a villain, CO₂ is our friend. Carbon dioxide is naturally occurring and is a building block to life on earth.

"Plants cannot live without CO₂ and man cannot live without plants... Without an atmosphere containing greenhouse gasses (GHGs) the earth could not support life. Carbon dioxide is one of the atmospheric gases that help moderate earth's temperature. Furthermore...the agricultural industry...intentionally increase CO₂ up to ten times its normal concentration to encourage plant growth in greenhouses...Plants need CO₂ to exist...There is far greater danger in lowering the CO₂ level, than in increasing the level.

“According to climatologists, water vapor and clouds account for about 60 to 95% of the GHG effect, while CO₂ has a much smaller effect...Climatologists who are pushing the global warming agenda are focusing on a minor GHG component and ignoring the major contributors to the GHG effect—water vapor, and clouds.”⁸

Dr. Fred Singer notes that many proposed “solutions” to the global warming “crisis”—like carbon taxes (more money out of your pocket)—would have severe consequences for economically disadvantaged groups and nations.

Weather Stability Promised

The scare-mongers have been busy for a long time with their doomsday predictions for planet Earth. After all, the threat of rising sea levels and scorching heat parching agricultural land ought to compel the fearful victims of propaganda to surrender their thriving industries along with what is left of their freedoms and rights. But fear not. God has promised us a relatively stable climate in this post-Flood world:

While the earth remaineth, seedtime and harvest, and cold and heat, and summer and winter, and day and night shall not cease. Genesis 8:22.

The powers-that-be pushing climate change depend on your ignorance and blind compliance to ensure success for their agenda—as is the case with covid. They hope for your continued addiction to mainstream media, their propaganda mouthpiece designed to rivet you with fear, make you compliant, and convert you to warriors for their evil cause. Unplug and detox! The covid and climate boogymen would soon disappear. 📺

WEATHER MODIFICATION?

Fact or fiction—can the military control the weather, cause earthquakes, hurricanes, floods, tsunamis, do cloud seeding for rain, disrupt global communication systems and more? The answer is yes. In 1996, a study was commissioned by the US Air Force: Owning the Weather in 2025. Weather modification for military use has apparently been in use for more than half a century. Prof. Michel Chossudovsky says that this is well documented. He further states that the instruments of weather warfare are part of the US arsenal of weapons of mass destruction (WMD) and their proposed use by the US military against “enemies” constitutes not only a crime against humanity but, to put it mildly, a threat to planet Earth.”¹ Should this geo-engineering be part of the climate debate?

One such military facility is HAARP in Alaska, where high frequency radio waves were fired into the ionosphere.

The military shuttered it in 2014 due to negative publicity. It was transferred from the US Air Force to the University of Alaska in 2015.²

Canada’s CBC News did a documentary on HAARP and reported: “It isn’t just conspiracy theorists who are concerned about HAARP. The European Union called the project a global concern and passed a resolution calling for more information on its health and environmental risks. Despite those concerns, officials at HAARP insist the project is nothing more sinister than a radio science research facility.”³

THE CHURCH OF GOD'S POSITION ON VACCINATIONS

Historically, the Church of God has taken a very cautious and conservative approach to medical interventions. Central to that approach is our belief in the primacy and authority of the Bible, which is inspired and infallible, the very Word of God itself.¹ As such, it informs our approach to our decisions related to health, life, and death. The Lord Jesus Christ Himself, the embodied Word of God, in the time of His temptation in the wilderness, left us the example of appealing to Scripture in determining our conduct.²

As a body of people, we also appeal to tradition to guide us in interpreting and applying Scripture to the challenges of the present day.³ We also believe that God has placed leaders within the Church to assist believers in the development of their faith.⁴ It is imperative to the faithful execution of their offices that those entrusted with this calling prayerfully consider and set the Church's position on issues in light of both Scripture and our tradition as a people. Pronouncements by the leadership are to be heeded and are considered a beneficial part of a believer's individual spiritual growth.⁵

We believe that God is the Creator and Giver of all life.⁶ All natural things in the universe are objects of His particular pleasure and are upheld and preserved by His divine power.⁷ God is, therefore, sovereign over the natural order.

This fact is no less true when it comes to humankind. Men and women are the climax of God's creation, made in His own image, and are therefore of especial interest to Him.⁸ He is concerned with both their spiritual and physical health.⁹ Scripture speaks of His prerogative as, and desire to be, the divine Healer of the body.¹⁰ Indeed, provision in the atonement of Christ is made for our healing.¹¹ The New Testament itself abounds with miraculous interventions by Jesus Christ and the early Church in the healing of sickness, disease, and injury.

At the same time, we understand that God's power to heal does not always equate to His wise purpose for our lives. Even in times of sickness or physical suffering, He can be glorified. Affliction can serve to teach us and bring us more fully into communion with Him and obedience to His Word.¹² God maintains firm control over both the good and the evil things of life.¹³ He cedes His design and authority to no one. Given this truth, we understand that even things like viruses are subject to His control and purpose.

Accordingly, the apostles of the Church of God make the following statements regarding our opposition to vaccinations:

We oppose the introduction of unnatural substances into the body for the purposes of circumventing or provoking the body's normal immune system response. We hold that God, as the supreme Giver and Arbiter of life, reserves this power unto Himself. It is against our faith to tamper in any way with the ordered and purposeful design of the immune system.

We are also opposed on moral grounds. Many vaccinations have either been developed with, or have been tested on, aborted fetal cell lines. This violates our strong stance on the sanctity of life, which begins at conception.¹⁴ Vaccines also contain chemicals and components that we deem harmful. As the temples of God, we cannot knowingly and conscientiously defile our bodies with such substances.¹⁵

Furthermore, vaccinations violate our trust and reliance on God's sovereignty over our bodies. They are a humanly devised mechanism that places our health in the hands of pharmaceutical companies rather than in the will of God. Scripture forbids us to place full reliance on human intervention in matters of health.¹⁶ In fact, it outlines a different and specific process for the children of God to follow in times of sickness.¹⁷ We believe that this process is still valid for the Church today.

We believe that it is both wrong and immoral to encourage people to violate their consciences. Doing so could cause them to sin.¹⁸ We therefore stand firmly beside any individual who opposes a health regime that violates the tenets of their sincerely held religious beliefs, even if their understanding on some specifics differs from ours. We exhort the people of God everywhere to stand by their religious convictions.

Our belief in divine healing does not preclude the possibility of death. Rather, it places the locus of our faith in the determinate will of God concerning our lives. We believe that God can be glorified in either life or death, and that Christians ought to make peace with the sovereignty of God over their lives and trust His design and plan for them individually, not seeking to prolong life through artificial means.¹⁹

SCOTTISH COVID-19 STATISTICS

PUBLIC HEALTH SCOTLAND WEEKLY REPORT DEC. 1, 2021

AND THEY TOLD YOU THAT THE UNVACCINATED ARE THE PROBLEM?

ARMAGEDDON NEWS

REPORTED BY BRO. DANIEL EICHELBERGER

Men and women, like their original fig-leaf-draped parents in Eden, wear the marks of their ignorance and shame so openly these days. It is actually quite startling. And to an enemy who is stealthy and able to zero in on the shame of their nakedness, they are fair prey and open targets for destruction. The evil things that happen in society are not by happenstance. They are calculated descents into hell itself. And who knows the path there better than the Prince of Darkness himself? Surely, he manifests his presence in the perfidy and willful ignorance of the populace in the headlines below.

Close Encounters of the Theological Kind

According to the Pew Research Center, “about two-thirds of Americans (65%) say their best guess is that intelligent life exists on other planets.” This is a staggering number of people to be sure. And officials at NASA are certainly impressed by it. So much so, in fact, that they have hired two dozen theologians to consider the matter and provide guidance on how finding such life would impact society. Relevant magazine reported that “the group will examine how various religious groups would react to news of alien interactions in order to be prepared for potential contact, although there is no indication that that interaction would be happening soon.” Such a pressing issue, certainly!

The theologians are sourced from the Center for Theological Inquiry in Princeton, New Jersey. Perhaps their university degrees are best spent on determining how an alien invasion or finding evidence of bacteria on Mars will impact the religious elements of human nature and society. They certainly haven’t been useful in solving any problems of immediate and pressing import on this terrestrial ball.

Would any sane alien even attempt an invasion? Famine. Terrorism. Murder. Godlessness. Perversion to the “nth” degree. No wonder E.T. phoned home and took the first ship out!

COVID, the Pro-Choice Killer Virus

COVID-19 is a killer. That is what the U.S. Government has said for two years now. And it appears to be even truer under the Biden administration, which now allows women to receive abortion pills through the mail. For two decades and under the four previous presidents, abortion pills were only obtainable in a physician’s office, a clinic, or a hospital. President Biden jettisoned the requirement earlier this year in the name of the pandemic (of course). You cannot risk contracting and being killed by COVID in taking a trip to Planned Parenthood, you see. Instead, you can now kill your unborn child “safely and securely” through the convenience of the mail. Oh, COVID, what outrages have been foisted upon men in thy name?

Illinois Knows Better than You!

Speaking of abortions, if your minor child became pregnant and was seeking one, wouldn’t you want to know? Democratic Illinois Governor J.B. Pritzker doesn’t think you have that right. He has signed legislation repealing a 1995 act that required 48 hours of advanced notice to parents for children 17 years and younger who sought abortion. The new law will take effect on January 1, 2024.

But do not be disheartened at this, for surely the Chicago Public School’s (CPS) campaign to offer condoms in most of its schools should help to mitigate the possibilities of minor pregnancies in the first place. The policy, which was implemented in the current school year, requires every Chicago school which teaches 5th grade and up to have a stash of the products on hand and ready to distribute to “students for if and when they think they will need them,” CPS’ top doctor, Kenneth Fox, told the Chicago Sun Times.

They could teach abstinence. But since when have public schools taught that?

Was there ever such a world as this, so very hell-bent on the destruction of innocent life? So determined to corrupt its youth? So stupid as to ignore the present crises it finds itself in? We feel certainty in saying there never has been. And soon there will not be. When Jesus splits the clouds and brings every work of man into judgment, where will that leave you?

OBITUARIES

SIS. MARÍA CELIA left her frail house of clay and went home to glory on January 1, 2022.

She was saved from all sin in 1979, at the age of 36, and faithfully served God for 42 years. In 2011, she rejoiced to find the true church of God in Ensenada, Baja California, where she took a firm stand to the day of her death.

Sister María set an example before everyone, teaching what it was to serve the Lord. She was always willing to take the gospel to whoever allowed it and had a great zeal for the things of God. Her faith was never broken by any trial.

She glorified the Lord by raising her hands to heaven during times of affliction, and on the day of her death, she began to pray and commend her soul to her Creator.

“Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labours; and their works do follow them.” Rev. 14:13.

BRO. DAVID REDECOP of Durango, Mexico, was carried by the angels into the realms of eternal glory and bliss on November 4th, 2021, at the age of 73.

For many years, he had longed in his soul for the truth. After wandering from place to place, God satisfied that longing when he found the true church in 2002. Here he and his family finally found a refuge for their souls.

Bro. Redecop set a pattern of exemplary holy living for all to follow. He knew how to be a real man, husband, and father. He was a hard worker and showed his family what it meant to labour from early morning until late at night. Consequently, he greatly enjoyed seeing the fruit of his labours.

For approximately fifteen years, he suffered from Parkinson's disease, the last six of which he was unable to walk. Though we mourn his loss, we greatly rejoice in knowing that our fellow soldier has laid his armour down, never to suffer again.
